

This document highlights some of the key points from the Code of Practice for quick reference; the full Code should be read in relation to each research project

Research Ethics and Research Governance at Lancaster: a code of practice

QUICK REFERENCE DOCUMENT

Individual researchers have a key responsibility and accountability for their research, and for maintaining the highest standards of ethical principles and practices. The University anticipates that all its members will act ethically, but nevertheless has safeguards in place for use in the event of alleged or actual research misconduct.

This document highlights some of the key points from the Code of Practice for quick reference; the full Code should be read in relation to each research project